Brise Soleil Louvers

This Brise Soleil is a custom-made structure finished in 2018 that required more than a thousand architectural louvers to cover the prestigious design-build apartments at the Four Seasons Surf Club in Miami Florida.

I've seen this building, it always called my attention. The Brise Soleil is beautiful it gives such a nice shading to the apartments and the best thing is that it does not rust because it's an aluminum structure. I love the and the architecture of this place. Keep up the good work Specialty Structures. Give me some time and I will totally hire you!
